MEANING OF CONFLICTS

A conflict is referred to as a disagreement among a set of people. It can also mean a struggle between two or more people who disagree. Conflict could be verbal, physical or both. It can be between friends, between siblings or even between a husband and a wife.

FAMILY CONFLICT

A family conflict is a struggle / disagreement between two or more family members over issues.

CAUSES OF CONFLICT IN THE FAMILY

1. Selfishness / Greediness: A member may always want to have his or her way regardless of the family standard.
2. Conflicts may arise when parents / parents show more love / attention to a child more than others.
3. When a child disobeys his / her parent, conflict can arise.
4. Transfer of aggression probably as a result of poverty or ill health can equally bring about conflict at home.
5. Personality / individual differences: No two individual are alike, not even identical twins. Individual differences arise from heredity and environment. Some people may be slow and quiet, while others could be fast, noisy and outstanding. These different behavioural patterns can bring about conflicts in the family.
6. Power struggles: Conflicts can occur when people feel a need to be in control. power is the ability to influence another person. This could be between a husband and a wife, a brother and a sister. This can equally bring conflict in the family.
